About

Consistent blogging is key to building a strong online presence, but coming up with new ideas and creating content on a regular basis can be time-consuming and challenging. That's where our "Create a Complete Blog Content Calendar" prompts come in. These prompts offer a comprehensive solution to planning and organizing your blog content for the year ahead. With our prompts, you can generate ideas, develop outlines, and schedule your posts in advance, ensuring that you never miss a deadline or run out of ideas. By using AI technology to simplify the content creation process, you can focus on delivering high-quality content that engages your audience and helps you achieve your business goals.

Prompts

I'd like you to help me come up with a content schedule for my blog that has the best chance of helping me rank for long tail keywords that are specific to my keyword. I'll tell you my main target keyword in the prompt below. Please target transaction style search terms only. Please come up with clickbait style titles for these blog posts. Please organize each blog post title in a nice looking table so that it looks like a calendar. Each week should be separated into its own table.

The keyword I'm targeting is: [real estate]

Tips

Provide context: The more context you provide, the better ChatGPT can understand and answer your question.
